

Dulles Suggests Policy Change If Reds Will 'Give'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today there could be important changes in U.S. policy as to the defense of Quemoy if there were some "give" by the Chinese Communists.

If there was a dependable ceasefire in the Formosa area, Dulles said, the United States would favor withdrawal of at least some of the large Chinese Nationalist forces on the offshore islands.

Dulles said the United States acquiesced in Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's reinforcement of the islands in the first place but considered it a foolish step.

At a news conference Dulles also said that the United States thought any renunciation of force in the Formosa region should apply not only to Communist China

Flying Boxcars Being Sent to Nationalists

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The United States is sending the Chinese Nationalists C-119 Flying Boxcars and big landing ships to break the Red blockade of the Quemoy, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

One of the landing craft—22,000-ton LSD (landing ship, dock)—has already made the run to the base, but shore island with U.S. 8-inch howitzers under the supervision of U.S. Marines.

The guns were turned over to Nationalist crews for installation. Up to now, the biggest guns used by the Nationalists were 155mm.

The new landing ships en route are capable of carrying eight smaller landing vessels in water-filled holds. They can carry up to six times as much cargo as the LSTs (landing ship, tank) now used by the Nationalists.

Enough Signatures for Recall Petition

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sponsors of recall petitions against four members of the Little Rock School Board said today they have enough signatures to assure recall election, but would delay filing the petitions until "an appropriate time."

Mrs. Margaret Jackson, president of the League of Central High Mothers, declined to elaborate on what would be considered an appropriate time.

She said the group earlier had planned to take the petitions to the county clerk's office today.

About 6,000 signatures are needed under provisions of a recall bill passed by the recent special session of the Arkansas Legislature.

The league seeks recall of all board members except Dr. Dale Alford, an outspoken segregationist.

Traffic Death Toll Runs Behind Normal

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic death toll for 1958, the National Safety Council said today, may be 2,000 less than last year and the lowest since 1951.

But, the council warned, that goal could be reached only if the same rate of improvement in cutting the traffic toll is maintained in the last quarter of the year.

The council said there were 22,880 deaths on the highways in the first eight months this year, 6 per cent below the same period last year and representing a saving of 1,500 lives.

The 38,500 traffic death toll would be the lowest since 1953 when the total was 35,500. The record toll was 39,000 in 1951.

Finds Cause of Jet Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—Air Force investigators decided today that complications in the handling technique contributed to the crash of a KC-135 jet crashed last June at the Westover Air Force Base, Mass., killing all aboard. An investigation board said complications in the way the crew handled the tanker were compounded by flight instrument limitations.

The KC-135 crashed within a short distance of the runway from which it attempted takeoff June 27. The dead included six newsmen who were to ride the tanker on a scheduled round-trip mission from Boston to England and return to the United States. Among them was Daniel J. Clavin, an Associated Press reporter.

Charge Filed in Teel Murder

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Connie Nicholas, 42, was indicted today on a first degree murder charge for the fatal shooting of her slaying, married lover, Ernest Teel.

The divorcee has been under police guard in General Hospital since she was found unconscious from an overdose of sleeping pills 20 hours after the July 31 shooting of the 54-year-old drug executive.

Her lawyer has indicated she will plead that she shot Teel accidentally and in self-defense while they argued in his auto outside the apartment of a newer friend. Teel was an executive vice president of the giant Eli Lilly and Co. drug firm.

Guy Basye Is Co-Chairman of Drive

Guy Basye has been selected by co-chairmen Mrs. Clinton Franks and Ray Turner to head up the large city division of the Salvation Army annual appeal for funds this year. According to the co-chairmen, Mr. Basye will select his own aides and conduct this phase of the campaign prior to the kickoff for the general solicitation which will begin on Oct. 7.

It is the hope of the drive co-chairmen to secure enough volunteers to conduct the campaign so that it may be completed in two or three days. According to them, it will be their purpose to see that no volunteer is burdened with contacts to make.

The minimum goal for this year's campaign has been set at $2,000. This amount is needed as the demands upon the local fund have been unusually heavy the past year and the local treasury is just about depleted.

LONOKE, Ark. (AP)—A 72-year-old woman was fatally burned yesterday when her clothing caught fire in her farm home six miles northwest of here.

Miss Janie Falkner died several hours after the accident, which occurred as she was trying to start a fire in a living room stove.

Tokyo Reports Soviet Nuclear Explosion

TOKYO (Wednesday) (AP)—The Tokyo meteorological station has detected what it believes was a Soviet nuclear explosion. This would be the first since March 21, when the Russians announced they were suspending tests.

A meteorological station spokesman said abnormal atmospheric pressures were felt throughout Japan about 10 p. m. Tuesday — 8 a. m. EST. These indicated an explosion in the megaton-million tons of TNT—class, he said.

The waves came from north northwest of Japan but the exact location of origin could not be fixed.

When the Russians announced they were suspending nuclear tests, they reserved the right to start them up again if other governments continued theirs.

On Sept. 18 Moscow radio warned that the Soviet Union would resume weapons tests.

"The Western Powers are simply forcing the Soviet Union to take back its word," the broadcast said.

Withdrawal From Lebanon Settled

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld announced today that the United States and Britain had agreed conditionally to withdraw their troops from Lebanon and Jordan.

The secretary general said the United States had promised to complete the withdrawal from Lebanon by the end of October if the situation improves sufficiently. He said Britain would begin pulling out of Jordan in October and would complete the withdrawal as early as the situation allows.

Hammarskjöld made his announcement in a 30-page report to the General Assembly on his recent Middle East peace mission. He said he had appointed a special representative to work out arrangements to facilitate the troop withdrawals and the special representative, Pier P. Spinelli, a U. N. undersecretary, is now in Amman.

Chrysler, UAW Fail to Reach an Agreement

DETROIT (AP)—Walter P. Reuther failed today for the second time in a week to achieve a break-out labor contract settlement for his United Auto Workers with Chrysler Corp. But he reported a meeting of minds that would make his further presence unnecessary.

Reuther had hoped to clear up the Chrysler situation so the union could devote its full attention to the huge General Motors Corp. Ford, other member of the auto industry's big three, reached agreement with the union almost two weeks ago.

The UAW president led his team through 18½ hours of marathon bargaining which began Monday morning and was interrupted only for brief lunch periods, subcommittee meetings and separate caucuses by the union and Chrysler.

He had indicated before the start of the session that an agreement could be hammered out within six or seven hours if Chrysler "really wanted to bargain."

Reuther indicated that agreement had been reached on major features of a contract similar to the three-year agreement which Ford and the UAW reached Sept. 17. The Ford agreement was expected to set the basis for contracts at Chrysler, General Motors and the independent auto makers.

Reuther, emerging from a meeting of almost 24 hours, said: "We have reached a meeting of the minds."

However, he said, problems concerning engineers, office workers and salaried employees still remain unresolved.

Reuther headed immediately for General Motors, the other member of the Big Three that still has not come to contract terms with the UAW.

Reuther said the remaining problems at Chrysler could be negotiated by the Chrysler bargaining team headed by Jack Conway, his administrative assistant.

The Chrysler talks, which covered 18½ hours of bargaining since Monday morning, recessed for two hours following Reuther's departure and then will tackle the problems again.

John D. Leary, Chrysler vice president, told newsmen: "No, it's not settled. We are very close and should reach agreement sometime today."

GM is under a Thursday morning, strike deadline set by Reuther who wants bargaining gains from GM over and above those he got in the agreement reached with Ford Sept. 17.

The Ford agreement was expected to provide a broad basis for both GM and Chrysler settlements, but Reuther stressed that the later two companies had local plan problems which required solution before any full agreement could be reached.

Reuther expressed pleasure that about 40,000 striking GM workers had heeded his call of Sunday for them to return to their jobs so negotiations could continue without the overtones of hit-and-run strikes which the company has charged were masterminded by the international UAW.

The union denied the allegation and recessed negotiations with GM for 48 hours until it could get the back-to-work directive before GM workers scattered across the nation. The UAW said that workers at only two plants, the Detroit transmission plant in Ypsilanti employing 3,900 workers, and a Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plant in Flint, Mich., had returned to work.

Little Rock Schools Are Still Closed as Private Group Abandons Plan

Signs Erected Despite the School Guards

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Guards at two Little Rock high schools today resisted installation of signs blaming the federal government for closing of the schools. One pulled pistol and ordered workmen away from Hall High.

The signs, declaring "This school closed by order of the federal government," eventually were erected at all four high schools.

The difficulty apparently stemmed from lack of fusion in the Little Rock Private School Corp., which had leased the school buildings for use as private, segregated schools.

The workmen said the signs were ordered by the corporation. The guards, technically, also have been in the employ of the corporation since the lease with the Little Rock School Board was signed yesterday.

Guard William Mansfield threatened three workmen with a pistol. They talked him into allowing them to put up the sign, but Mansfield tore it down when they left. Later it was replaced by unidentified persons.

A tall, bespectacled guard at Central High school briefly with workmen but allowed them to install the sign on order from a school official who came out of the building.

Signs were placed at Technical and Horace Mann high schools without reported incident. The private group was to have opened the schools today but cancelled its plan in the face of an injunction issued by a federal court at Omaha, Neb.

Plane Lost, Others Are All Grounded

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—All planes were grounded shortly before noon in Little Rock today because a pilot flying a private craft from Dallas to Memphis was lost in the area.

Drizzling rain and low ceiling cut visibility to dangerously short range and the pilot, not identified, radioed that his navigational instruments were fouled.

Both Pine Bluff and Little Rock airports had been in frequent touch with the pilot but were unable to locate his position. The pilot told the Little Rock tower he had twice let down "through the soup" and saw the ground but could not orient himself or find a landing strip.

Planes will be kept in Little Rock until the lost pilot lands. He reported at noon that he had an hour's gasoline left in the tank.

Man Shot at Home of Estranged Wife

HOTSPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A 38-year-old Hot Springs man, on the verge of reconciliation with his estranged wife, was fatally shot at her home yesterday, police said.

Detective Prosecutor Robert Ridgeway said Joe McCarthy, 39, was being held on an open charge in the death of Johnny D. Hill.

Patrolman Jack Digby said Hill was shot one time above the left eye with a .38 caliber revolver. Digby said Hill visited his estranged wife early yesterday and they agreed to go back together. He said Hill left and shortly afterward McCarthy arrived.

Hill returned suddenly, Digby said, and Mrs. Hill left them alone together. She told officers she heard a shot and ran into the room to find McCarthy handing her a pistol and left.

Digby said McCarthy was arrested shortly afterward in bed at his home nearby.

Hill and McCarthy had had previous arguments about Mrs. Hill, Digby said.

Mrs. Hill was released on $1,000 bond as a material witness.

Man Charged in Shooting of Fother

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP)—A second degree murder charge was filed against a 19-year-old Paul Creamer yesterday in connection with the shotgun slaying of his father.

Herbert Creamer, 52-year-old farmer, was killed Sunday at his home near Fotherman.

Deputy Sheriff Aden Woodruff quoted young Creamer as saying the weapon fired accidentally.

Man Charged With Molesting Child

An immoral charge was filed yesterday against a 47-year-old resident of Hope, R. L. Sheriff Jimmie Cook announced. The incident occurred last week and involved a 5½ year-old girl, the Sheriff said. The defendant has been released on $1,000 bond.

Four Killed in Crash at L. R. Air Base

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Four Air Force officers were killed yesterday when an RB-47 bomber crashed and burned shortly after takeoff at Little Rock Air Force Base.

The big 6-engine craft apparently stalled, base officials said. The plane veered to the right at an altitude of about 200 feet and then crashed to the runway, its fuel tank exploding on impact.

The Air Force identified the victims as:

Maj. Merle R. Cunningham, 39, instructor pilot with the 81st Strategic Reconnaissance Sq. at the base. His wife and three children live at nearby Jacksonville.

Lt. Col. Zenith Barber, 42, and Capt. Richard L. Haggard, 37, both of the 321st Bomb Wing at McCoy Air Force Base, Fla. Their wives live at Orlando, Fla.

Lt. Col. Lin Parker, 38, of the 88th Bombardment Wing at Lincoln Air Force Base, Neb., son of J. L. Parker of Arkansas City, Ark.

The latter three were student pilots assigned to the 4250th Student Sq. at the local base.

Salvation Army Helps Many in Hope

The Salvation Army Service Unit in Hope has been extremely busy the past year. Every case referred to them has been cared for to the best of their ability with the funds provided them in last year's campaign.

According to Social Service Secretary E. R. Brown, more than 250 persons have received direct emergency welfare aid such as food, clothing, shelter, fuel, medicines, and transportation. There have been cases where some have received furniture as well.

Mr. Brown points out that a great portion of the Salvation Army fund raised here in Hope is returned to the community, as all items needed to provide the welfare for the unfortunate are purchased in the community. Then, too, there is the untold wealth that accumulates from the rehabilitation of the needy person.

Last year's giving to the Salvation Army in Hope amounted to $1,447.70. The goal for this year has been set at $2,000.00 which amount is felt to be needed by the local Service Unit.

Date for the 1958 campaign has been set for Oct. 7 with Mrs. Cline Franks and Ray Turner serving as campaign co-chairmen.

Devil's Den Dispute Before Chancellor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court has refused to stop Washington County Chancery Court from hearing a suit over ownership of about 80 acres of land in Devil's Den State Park.

The state Publicity and Parks Commission, which claims the Pulaski County Chancery Court, tended the suit should be tried in the county court, on everyone's customary forum to litigation involving state agencies.

The other claimant to the property is Nell Woodward of Oklahoma City.

General to Speak to Engineers

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Lane, commanding general of Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., will be principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Society of American Military Engineers here tomorrow.

Gen. Lane who was district engineer at Little Rock in 1948-50, will discuss training methods employed at Ft. Leonard Wood. His talk will be supplemented by color slides.

A Way Will Be Found, Declares Gov. Faubus

By HE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Little Rock (Ark.) Private School Corp. today abandoned plans to lease four high schools and operate them as private, segregated institutions.

Dr. T. J. Roney, director of the corporation, announced the action in a brief statement.

The schools remained closed and signs were placed on the campuses which read:

"This school closed by order of the federal government."

Later, Gov. Orval E. Faubus commented:

"As long as the people stand firm, a way will be found to preserve our traditions and educate our children."

He said "Other avenues and means of providing education for the students will be explored."

Dr. Roney's statement said: "Through the concerted efforts of the government of the United States and the NAACP, the Little Rock Private School Corporation has now been enjoined and prohibited from operating high schools."

The U.S. Supreme Court Monday blocked one of the principal routes which southern states hoped to use in maintaining segregated schools. Chief Justice Earl Warren said the court will not permit "evasive schemes for segregation" to nullify its 1954 ruling.

Murray Show. From what I saw the play is seemed a rather sluggish execution of a promising idea.

However, despite Monday night's outing and the prodigious number of clinkers that "Studio One" has turned out in recent seasons, I shall miss it. It provided live drama and on Monday nights it was the only wheel in town.

As for "Arthur Murray Party," what can I say? Mothers love it, babies cry for it and chickens cluck for it. I must say it strikes me as a dubious contribution to television entertainment, a kind of amateur night with a good paint job.

Monday night Kathryn Murray, who is Arthur's wife, starred in a tedious pantomime that had some thing or other to do with aerobics and hula hoops and beach chairs on a New York roof. Well, maybe your roof, Kathryn, but not mine. Most New York roofs are so small you can barely get ran on them.

Western Bows
Also on the Murray show, there was the piece de resistance — which, in this case means a piece of entertainment to resist — which involved a dancing bee between Franchot Tone, Dan Dailey and Ricardo Montalban. Mr. Montalban, incidentally, has a charming name, but when Mrs. Murray pronounced it in her fierce New Jersey accent, it comes out sounding like "Bert Glunk."

Mrs. Murray announced, I believe, that the guests were contributing their $5,000 fees to various charities. I guess they all felt they were stealing the money. And you know, they were right. There was another debut Monday night. It was called "The Texan" and was on CBS-TV. It starred Rory Calhoun, and two corpses, a lunch mob and several horses. I suspect the dialogue was written by Johnny Weissmuller. Oh yes, it'll be a hit.

The Channel Swim: Dean Martin is angling for Bing Crosby and Sammy Davis for his opening NBC-TV show Nov. 22 — Martin is trying to coax Frank Sinatra into his second show. NBC-TV is airing "Youth Wants to Know," after a seven-year run.

Charles Van Doren will host "Kaleidoscope," a new NBC-TV hour show that will alternate with "Omnibus" on Sunday afternoons. "Kaleidoscope," which kicks off on Oct. 19, will explore such subjects as ballet, psychoanalysis, acting, the American Indian and news events.

The 21-year-old Aga Khan will make his live TV debut this Sunday.

sobs with cries of a restraining order.

Officials, buffeted between federal and state pressure and momentarily in complete confusion, refused to say what they would do.

They conferred feverishly but announced no decisions. Marshals waited in readiness for the next move.

The dilemma was sparked by two federal judges in Omaha, Neb., when they issued a restraining order at the request of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, supported by the federal government.

The order instructed all persons connected with the private school plan not to take "further action to transfer possession, control or operation, directly or indirectly, of Little Rock schools."

It also forbade altering the "status quo of the senior high schools insofar as their integrated status is concerned."

The order came a few hours after the School Board had turned the four high school buildings over to Little Rock Private School Corp. and plans were in the mill to open the schools today.

The judges made their ruling retroactive to last Thursday after Justice Department Atty. Donald MacGuiness said the school lease had been executed in haste to complete action before the hearing.

The retroactive clause apparently was aimed at nullifying any legal advantage sought by the school board.

An official statement of the School Board said the board would comply with the court's order.

But Dr. T. J. Roney, president of the corporation that leased the school facilities, said, "I don't have any idea what will be done."

He made the statement after hours of conferences and declined to say anything more.

Teachers were advised by their attorneys not to take any part in the operation of the high schools by a private group.

Copies of the restraining order were served later by federal marshals on teachers and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pry have as their guests her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Copeland of DeLight.

Mrs. Blain Hays has returned from several weeks stay in Little Rock.

connected with the schools.

Marshals tried to serve a copy on Gov. Faubus. They were unable to get past guards at the gates of the governor's residence.

U.S. Marshal R. Beal Kidd said Kidd read the court order to him.

Faubus telephoned him later and said that would be sufficient and there would be no need to serve the governor physically.

The restraining order is in force until Oct. 6 when a three-judge panel of the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals will meet in St. Louis to hear the case for a temporary injunction.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The four Little Rock high schools remained closed today and signs were placed on the campuses which read: "This school closed by order of the federal government."

The move to open the high schools as private but segregated institutions was halted officially at 8 a.m. when Dr. T. J. Roney, head of the operating corporation, declared a court injunction made it impossible.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus commented: "As long as the people stand firm, a way will be found to preserve our traditions and educate our children."

He said in the face of the injunction "other avenues and means of providing education for the students will be explored. We think the action of the federal government is illegal but if the injunctive action of the court is made permanent, it will make our efforts more difficult but not at all impossible."

Roney acknowledged that the corporation was restrained by a court order granted in Omaha, Neb., Monday by two judges of the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals.

The judges moved swiftly at the request of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People to keep the school board and the corporation from proceeding.

Roney issued a statement which but also to the Nationalist government.

He argued this would be a fair arrangement and that it would be wrong to ask the Reds alone to renounce force.

In the past two weeks the prospects for a peaceful outcome of the Formosa crisis have improved, Dulles said under questioning.

He attributed this to some slight tendency toward stabilization of the contending forces in the Quemoy region and on his feeling that there is now less chance of hostile spread into a bigger war.

The chief encouraging note was Premier Chou En-lai's statement Sunday that the Red Chinese "do not give up their efforts to find a solution to the disputed status between China and the United States through peaceful negotiations."

Although Chou surrounded that remark with more belligerent statements, some State Department officials considered it to have an important bearing on U.S.-Red China ambassadorial talks at Warsaw. The fifth session of these talks was scheduled today.

No progress was made in the four earlier meetings, but the United States is anxious to keep the contact in hopes of finding some common ground for peaceful solution.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock said the international union believed the accumulation of local grievances in those two plants were so large and of such long duration that they prompted the workers to remain on strike until their problems were settled.

He said the votes of the two locals did not represent a rejection of the international's back-to-work order.

Methodists Asked to Aid Negro Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Methodists were asked today to donate one million dollars to help 12 colleges for Negroes.

The appeal came from Bishop Paul N. Garber of Richmond, Va., chairman of the Methodist Commission on Christian Higher Education, whose Executive Committee is meeting here.

Bishop Garber said the commission has called for a church-wide offering Feb. 8 for the benefit of the colleges. The Rev. John O. Gross, Nashville, Tenn., director of the commission, said the financial condition of some of the southern colleges for Negroes "has reached crisis proportions" because of ever increasing enrollments.

The Socialists, the only strong opposition, picked up one seat for a total of 26.

"Kiss and Tell" Boys
Unpopular With Girls

Dear Dorothy Dix:
My girl friends and I have a problem. Why is it that so many boys love to talk about their past romances and old girl friends?

Frankly, we find the subject boring. Do boys think they're impressing us with this stuff, or do they like to hear themselves brag? Actually, they're giving us the signal to say "goodbye." — Ardita G.

Dear Ardita: In the good old days when chivalry was in flower, no gentleman kissed and told. Today's youth has a different code. They tell even if there has never been a kiss. The reason might be vanity. These questionable young men think they're building themselves up when actually they are making themselves ridiculous.

They're liars, and the girls who listen to them know it. You can learn a lesson from them, though. Always remember that if Jim talks about Helen and what a responsive girl she was, he will say the same thing about you if you give him half a chance.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
We're the very young parents of a new baby. My husband works during the day and goes to school at night. He's never with me. When he does have an occasional day off, he goes fishing with his boy friends. I'm very lonesome and, although I constantly ask him to take me out instead of going fishing, he pays no attention to me. — Patricia.

Dear Pat: Taking care of a job and an education is a rough grind and your husband deserves something more for his efforts than nagging from you. Be a more pleasant companion to him and he'll want to be with you. Your job isn't an easy one, either, but since you're both married so young, you must learn to accept your responsibilities like adults instead of grumbling over them like children. Keep your chin up and time will take care of your problems.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
My father limits me to three things about you if you give him half a chance.

Dear Dorothy Dix:
I just want to let you know that I'm perfectly happy and have no problems — Boo.

Dear Boo: Bully for you. Millions of other people could write the same thing but they are so busy being happy that they don't have time.

Union Monitors to Challenge Court Order

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamsters Union monitors prepared today to challenge the court order under which they were appointed. The legal maneuver could remove James R. Hoffa from the union's presidency.

The union itself filed documents in court opposing the monitors' request for additional powers and asking removal of Godfrey P. Schmidt as one of the monitors.

Hoffa was allowed to take office provisionally under the same court order which established the monitors. The order settled a suit brought last year to keep Hoffa from taking office. If it were voided, the suit could be resumed and a temporary order barring Hoffa from office reinstated.

Monitor members said they planned to file today court papers questioning whether the compromise order was properly entered in the first place. They raised a technical question of whether proper advance notice of the compromise was given to all concerned.

The claims and counterclaims are to be heard and dealt with ultimately by U.S. Dist. Judge F.

minute telephone conversations and has a timer near the phone so I won't talk longer than that. This is scarcely time to say "hello" and "goodbye." Sometimes I can't get that much time as we're on a four party line. — Carol K.

Dear Carol: You young gabbers are the boon of the telephone company and a menace to everyone else who wants to use the line. Dad is being considerate of others. As a special reward, he might be indulged to permit a ten minute call once or twice a week. Meanwhile, save the news until you meet your friends, or rediscover the lost art of letter writing.

When Jules Verne wrote his famous "Around the World in Eighty Days," it came out as a serial in the Paris newspaper Le Temps (The Times). The story aroused such interest that bet were placed on whether Phileas Fogg, the book's hero, would get back to London in 80 days. The Paris correspondents of U.S. newspapers called home summaries of the chapters as they appeared.

Chapter XX

Sorensen's grimy fingernails dug into the matted hair at the nape of his neck. "Tom, I don't think you realize the seriousness of it. But you'd better start realizing it. If you want to live, won't you shut your mouth?"

"Suppose I do?"

"We'll go ahead with our plans. We'll let the McKenzie and know where you are I mean. We'll tell her we've got you. And we'll

"Trade me for what?"

"Another deed to this land. She'll do it too, to have you back. Think it over, Tom. But don't think for a minute that we'll let your life stand in the way of homes for our wives and babies. Everything we have is right here in this valley. On land that I paid for and ain't got no title to."

"I don't think you ever did have a deed to this land, Sorensen."

Sorensen's face contorted with an old frustration, and John Lane at this moment was convinced the sluggy-haired man was telling the truth.

"No use for me to keep repeating it, Sheriff, but I held Ross McKenzie's deed to all this creek land. I've sold most of it to these fellows of mine. They pay me as they get the money. When I moved out here, I left a lot of debts back in Kansas, and I paid for this land with money that didn't really belong to me. But I've been squaring back there, and I can't give these fellows their money back or titles to their land that will stand up in court."

Sorensen made a gesture of defeat.

"You're going to do something worse than worry if you don't give us our guns and horses back."

After a moment, Sorensen said wearily, "If you won't listen to reason, Sheriff, you just won't."

His face hardened.

Lane said, "Sheriff, you'd better make a trade with him, or he'll make a trade with you."

"No, you wouldn't, either, Lane. You'd do just like I'm doing."

"Both of you are going to be decorating a cottonwood," Sorensen said. "I can't stop these fellows now."

Along in the afternoon Lane heard the chatter of excited women inside the house and recognized one of the voices as that of the shrill biddy, who'd stirred up the emigrants the day he had tried to talk to the wounded Nels. The shrill-voiced woman and three other pokebonneted, baggy-dressed females came out onto the porch to stare at the men in the smokehouse. They were joined presently by two girls much younger.

Cole said, "Val Rudnick is after that gal on the left there, and the other woman is Nels' widow."

At that, lips trembling, one of the women slung her head and whimpered, "Poor Nels," and began sniffing into her handkerchief.

Lane stood in the doorway, holding his hat in his hand. He caught the gaze of the widow, and said, "Ma'am, do you think Nels would want you to keep quiet? Nels told you how he got that slug. He told Dr. Brewer. You and the doctor have discussed it. Why don't you tell your father in-law that Nels got that bullet in a raid on the Four Arrow?"

The young widow moistened her lips, staring at him, and finally said, "You aim to drive us off our land."

"Knowing what you know and still keeping quiet is awful dirty thinking, ma'am."

The shrill-voiced biddy put an arm behind the girl. "Honey, come back in and sit down. You shouldn't be out here in your condition."

She guided Nels' widow through the door. Afterward she slipped her hands and faced the men south of the porch. "Daniel, quit that arguing. You men make me tired! If you haven't got grit in your craws, I have. Fetch a rope and let's get on with it. I've looked at this here gunman about as long as I can stand to."

"If I had a woman like her," Cole said, "I'd keep her head in a lowback when she was out among company."

Sorensen came down his back steps carrying a lardpail milk bucket, and turned toward his lod down the slope to the south. He returned in less than five minutes, indicating he'd gotten some one else to do the chore. Lane thought, but then he saw a group of grangers at Sorensen's heels.

"Sheriff," Lane said, "here comes a delegation with some thing on their minds."

Lane was mistaken in the intentions of the hoemen.

Coming up, Sorensen said to the sheriff, "You're right, Tom. We haven't got the guts to do anything really wrong. You can have your guns and horses back. We're going to let you go."

"Now you're showing sense."

"We'll just have to knuckle under about that pistol whipping—take whatever you deal out," the spade-bearded sodbuster continued. He looked at Lane. "And I'll drop by Tom's office and leave money to pay for the cattle we butchered, one of these days."

Lane said, "We'll call that part of it square if we can get some thing else straightened out. I didn't shoot Nels on the road to town."

"Hildy told me," Sorensen said quickly. He moved his gaze away, face sorely troubled, like that of a man who'd seen his way out of his difficulties only to have them pile up higher than ever.
